

Natural Sounds

A Sound Library by George Sarantinos
January 2021

Project Overview

While working as a sound designer, I started compiling a sound library of my own intended for my personal work. I then decided to share this library with other people in the creative industry. I used the Zoom H5 Handy Recorder for Stereo Recordings and the Sonarworks Measurement Microphone for Mono ones. All the sounds were captured at 48kHz, 16-bit and subsequently edited further using Cubase Pro 10.5.

Library Overview

This library consists of 40 sound files. I recorded these sounds in nature while hiking and travelling around Greece. The library focuses on sounds that can be found in nature away from cities and modern society. I will be updating this library with new sounds so make sure you check the date on the top. All files were recorded in Stereo using the Zoom H5 Handy Recorder. The files found in this library are listed below:
